

Clara O'Shea is an Associate Lecturer in the School of Education. She is course leader for 'Assessment, Learning and Digital Education', and co-tutors on 'An introduction to digital environments for learning' and 'Introduction to digital game-based learning'. Her research interests coalesce around ideas of digital culture and education, with specific interests around how we learn within online spaces (touching on place, identity, presence, enculturation, assessment and feedback).