

Gill Ferrell is an independent consultant with expertise in areas such as technology-enhanced learning, curriculum design, assessment and feedback and the design of learning spaces.

Since 2011 she has supported Jisc's assessment and feedback activities and has undertaken two major reviews of UK assessment and feedback practice.

She has been a member of the EUNIS (European University Information Systems organisation) board and is currently leader of its e-Learning Task Force.