

Tim Fawns is a part-time PhD student and a tutor on 'Assessment, Learning and Digital Education' within the School of Education. Additionally, he is a Programme Coordinator for the MSc in Clinical Education in the University's Centre for Medical Education. His research interests include the influence of technology on episodic memory, as well as in the dynamics of online collaboration.